

Beaufort County School District

Beaufort County's public schools have made dramatic progress in recent years, with across-the-board improvements in student achievement and significant savings from more efficient operations. Standardized test scores have increased for all types of students despite higher poverty rates. Ratings on state and federal accountability measures have improved, high school graduation rates have increased, and district schools, students and teachers have earned numerous state and national honors in both academics and athletics. The link <http://www.beaufortschools.net> is your gateway to a variety of important information on the Beaufort County School District. "Public Information," in particular, is a digest of links to the Board of Education, staff contacts, budgets and financial audits, enrollment data and student achievement statistics. "Public Information" also offers assistance for citizens seeking to obtain public records through the South Carolina Freedom of Information Act. This can be found under "district" and "about us" tabs.
